A major morale-builder on the Central campus is the PEP Club. A fairly new organization, this group is paramount in the boosting of student enthusiasm for games and other activities.

Feature attractions have included skits prior to football and basketball games, pep assemblies and programs in some of the other Catholic schools.

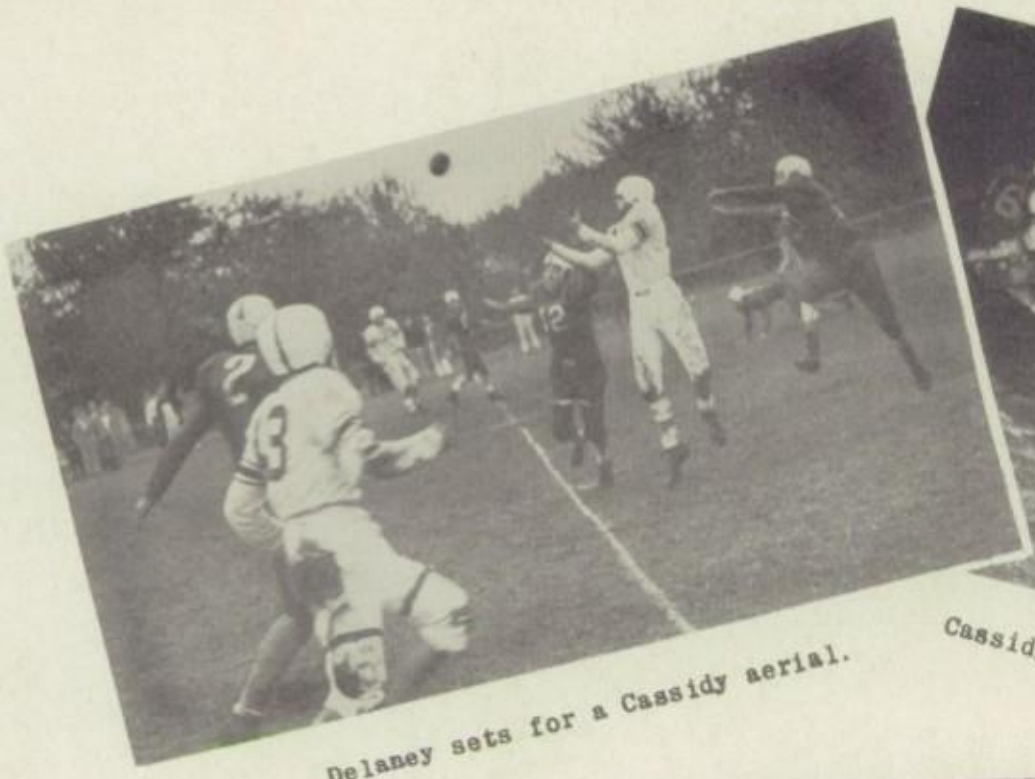
FOOTBALL

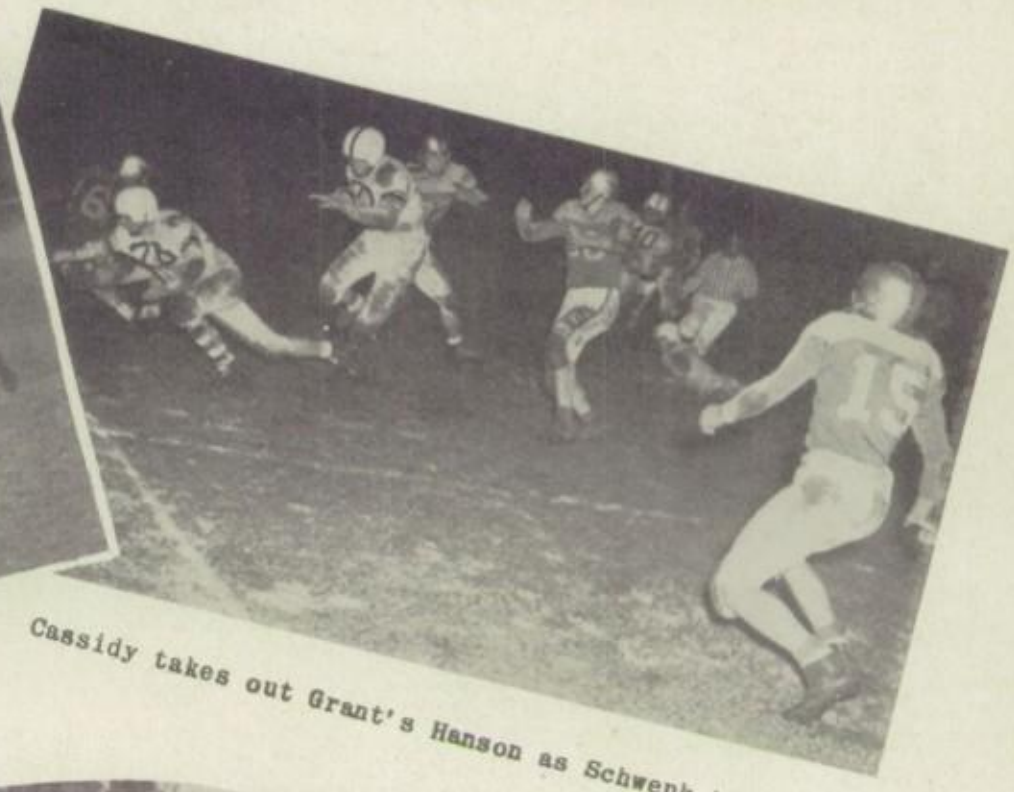
Our congratulations to Central's 1949 football squad, coached by Harry Scarff. The Ram's victory packed season was started by a win over Mt. Angel. For the second time in two years, Central reached the State Tournament, only to be defeated in the quarter-finals, this time by Grant High School of Portland, who later became state champs. The Rams entered the tournament by defeating Scappoose for the second straight year.

With only nine lettermen to return next football season, it yet promises to be a successful one.

Highlights - Don Schwenk intercepts a Mt. Angel pass in the end zone and gallops 102 yards for a touchdown. Ray Mosbrucher named most valuable player. Bob Cassidy and Tom Maddocks named on Grant all opponent team. Cassidy, Maddocks, and Mosbrucker named on Portland All-Star team.



Delaney sets for a Cassidy aerial.



Cassidy takes out Grant's Hanson as Schwenk breaks through.

One of the least recognized organizations of Central is the Booster Club. The Booster Boys are the fellows who contribute endlessly of their time and energy to make Central a better school for all of us.

The fellows whom you see moving through the halls after school, hanging posters, or spending their lunch hours hawking tickets to the various school activities, and in general pushing school spirit to new highs, are the unsung heroes of the student body. To these dauntless souls we offer, on behalf of the students and school, our heartfelt thanks.

Mardi

The annual Inter-School Mardi Gras was presented at Central again this year. Planned, presented and performed entirely by the students of the Council's member schools, it was primarily a program of "firsts". The first Inter-School glee club performed; for the first time sixteen booths were run jointly by at least two of the schools; and it was the first time the project was completely planned by students of the member schools. The Council is composed of members representing Immaculata Academy, Academy of the Holy Child, St. Mary's Academy, Providence Academy of Vancouver, Columbia Prep and Central.

The proceeds of this year's Mardi Gras will, as has been the custom in former years, be contributed to the foreign missions.

CENTRAL

Bixby, Gagnon, O'Grady in a scene from The Little Father of the Wilderness.

The Central Players began their 1949-50 season by inaugurating the first annual One-Act Play Festival for Catholic High Schools of the Archdiocese - sponsored by the North Pacific Region of the Catholic Theatre Conference and the Catholic Inter-School Council - November 26 - Immaculata Academy. Several schools participated, over 500 students attending the plays, luncheon and social hour. Central's contribution - The Little Father of the Wilderness - received a superior rating. Dale O'Grady as Pere Marlotte won the best actor award.

Nineteen days later the Players presented Sierra's mystery play of the Incarnation, Holy Night, on December 19 & 20. This unusual production evinced some exceptional talent, and an intricate light plot by Father Laughlin.

Marjorie Kullberg bows to Bill Gagnon.

Several of the Players accompanied Father Juliano on his trip to Spokane on February 18 for the first annual One-Act Play Festival in the Washington area. Marycliff High School was host of the festival and Father Juliano acted as judge.

Father Al Walsh pacifies Cassidy and Giacchero.

Sally Ferguson as a Blessed Mother presents the Infant to Barbara Hand in a scene from the Christmas play, Holy Night.

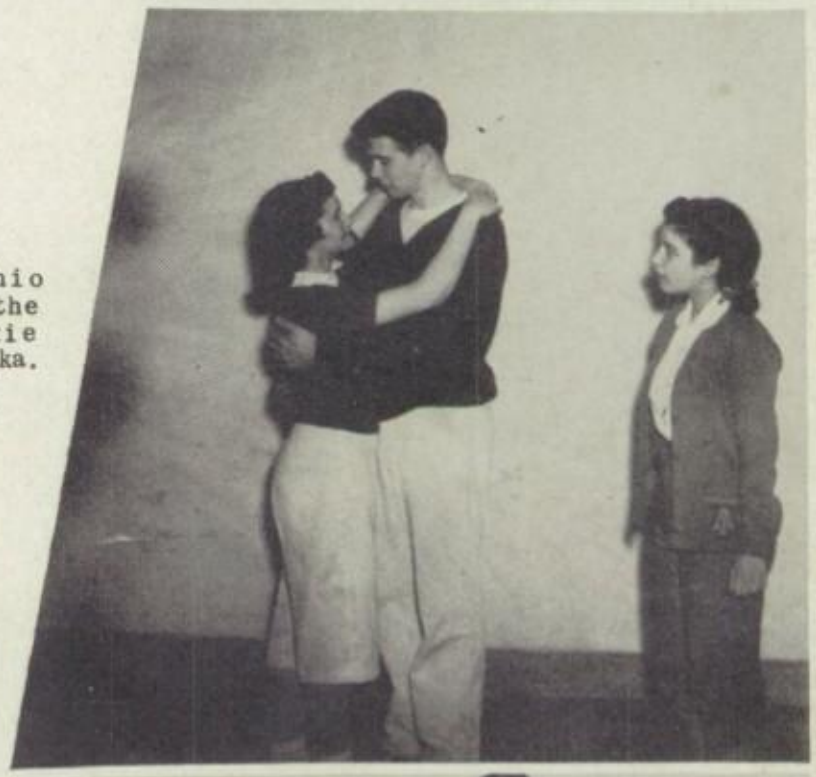
PLAYERS

The fifth season of play production at Central closed with the successful presentation and Northwest premiere of Harry Thurschwell and Alfred Golden's delightful 1947 Broadway comedy, A YOUNG MAN'S FANCY. Playing to capacity crowds on May 6, 7 and 8, Frank Joseph, Bill Gagnon, Jim Burger, Pat Campbell and Dale O'Grady earned many deserved laughs. Other principals included Lew Zilka, Ann Sheridan, Angie Schwerdt, Marlee Gatucchio, Al Walsh, Bill Duffy, Mary Moisan and Donna Dodge.

The cavorting of the young campers in an unusual set designed and constructed by John Stanton, Mike Lowell and Gus Benz, and painted a realistic knotty pine by Ralph Fitzmaurice and Al Walsh, pleased many. Suggestions from the author, Mr. Harry Thurschwell, greatly aided in solving many technical difficulties.

Central also contributed male talent for Immaculata's two productions: Song of Bernadette and Pride and Prejudice.

Ann Sheridan and Lew Zilka talk things over.



Marlee Gatucchio is puzzled by the antics of Angie Schwerdt and Zilka.

Ann lays down the law.

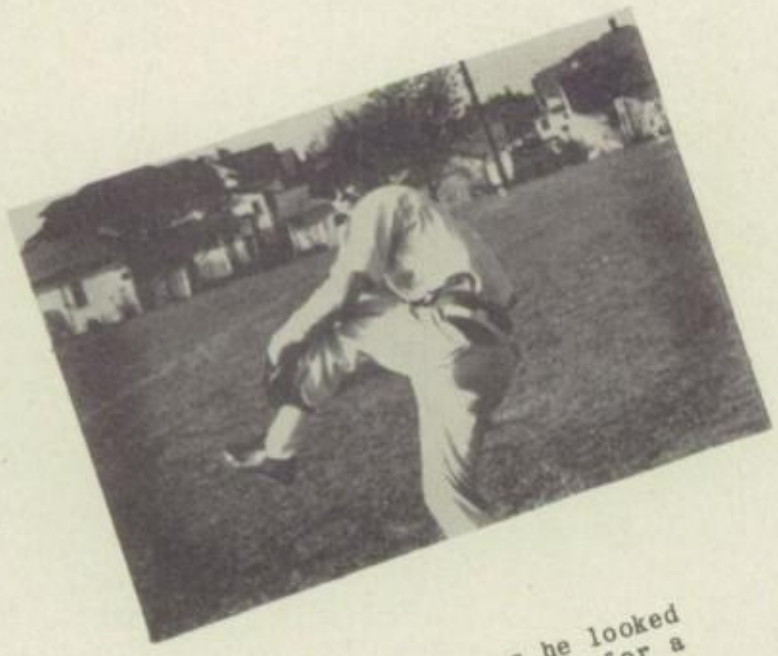
Row 3: Legg (Mgr), Norbert, Erceg, D. O'Flaherty, P. Gilroy, D. Delaney, Schwenk, Beazley.

A late start and Old Man Weather were not favorable to Central's 1950 baseball season. At the time of publication of this book, the Rams had been able to play only two games, being victorious in each. The St. Helens Lions and Concordia Bluejays were the two losing opponents.

Backed by a number of veterans, the outlook for the season is good. Already two pitchers have shone brightly - Denny O'Flaherty in his shut-out over the Lions, and Don Delaney in his 4-hitter over Concordia. A number of heavy "stickers" will also bring many a cheer to Coach Scarff.

Bernie Mandich gets some advice while awaiting his turn at the plate.



Don Delaney, as he looked against Concordia for a 14 K.O. session. Final, Central 3, Concordia 1.

Frank Navarra crosses the plate with another run against the St. Helens Lions. Final, Central 18, St. Helens 0.

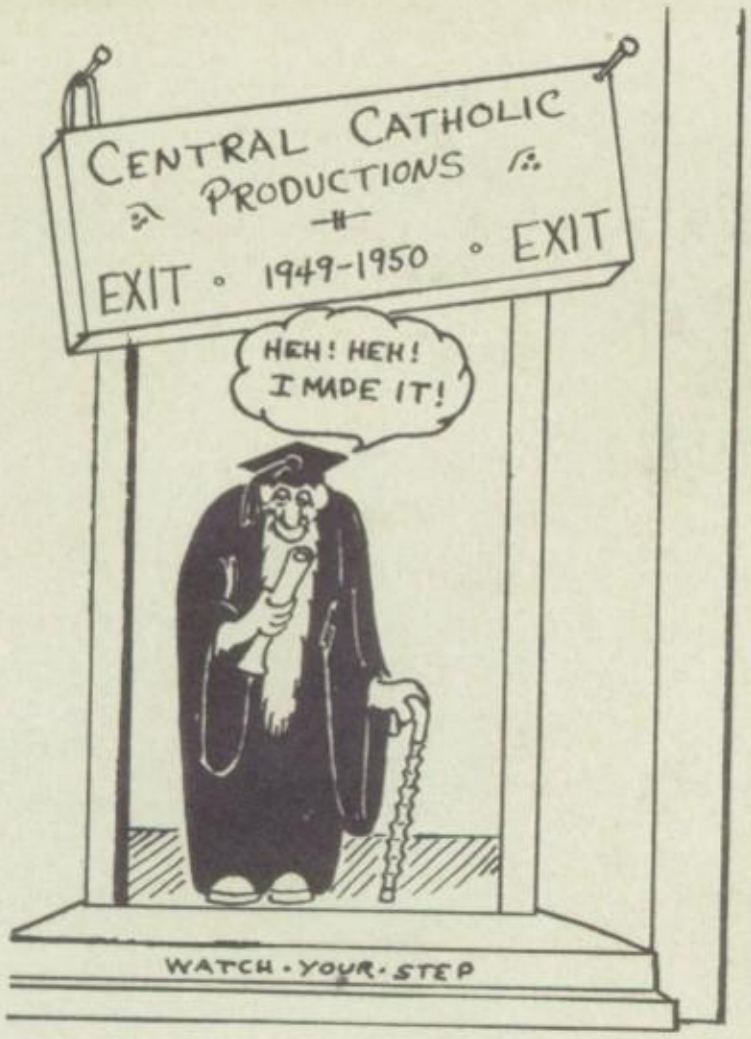
THE SENIORS LOOK AHEAD.....



SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As we look ahead into the year 1960 we see that the seniors of "'50" have ventured out into a new life. We see that the priesthood has claimed a few of the "'50" graduates. Bill Alderson is next in line for the office of principal at Central. Ed Altstock is currently serving as vice-principal and the faculty includes Steve Kelley, Bob Batson, Gerry Drapeau, John Dailey, and Dick Anderson.

According to the latest, Fred Duyn is teaching at M.I. Tech. He's teaching the faculty! Included on that faculty are Wilbur Bolton, Dick Kennedy, Pat Simmons, and Ed Hughes. Naz Smith was recently appointed prefect of discipline at Notre Dame. George Gilroy and Bill Duffy teach a cheerleading class at Portland U. Jud Moran, Dave McNeice, and Bill McAllister are teaching Portland high schools. Ray Mosbrucker, Tom Bagan, Marty LeDoux, and Bob Cassidy are the head football coaches at Yippahoopy U. Joe Danforth has decided to retire from boxing; he's had one fight. Bill ('49 Merc.) Bierek, Jack Taylor, Paul Massee, Jerry Cach, Linus Niedermeyer, and Don Gibbons decided to live at Mt. Hood; they like skiing. Joe Peixotto, Bob Raub, and Bruce Scarrah are coaching the Freshmen teams at Vanport. Hal Gardner, Tom Maddocks, Don Schwenk, and Don Delaney are all-star footballers for Northwestern (School of Commerce). Bernie Mandich, Al Weber, and Cal De Pass are hoopsters for Portland U.

It is said that Ray Schneider is now being called "champ"; he didn't tell us he could play marbles. Bob Lulich is a bat-boy for the Lucky Beavers, while Den O'Flaherty is bat-boy for the Yankees. Dick Van Hoomissen, Bob Cogan, and Joe Schwary are operating their own radio stations. Hank Gagnon and Leo Hart are their noted announcers. Tom O'Dell, Doug Daniels, and Ralph Fitzmaurice are touring Portland as the "Terrible Trio Jazz Band" with Bob Beazly, Ivan Tadic, Wayne Hattrup, and Rudy Piccolo as their private chauffers.

We hear that the two Tubbs brothers, Bob and Ellis have taken wives and are busy out in Damascus raising little "Tubblets". Portland Heights is to be renovated by its new contractors, Stanton, Benz, and Stevens - alias John, Gus, and Bill. Bob Hoeschen and Tom Theis are still on their way to the Detroit Ford Plant.

Gene Rask was recently elected prexy of the "Pep Club for Elderlies". Its members include Ed Wilkins, Al Stickel, Jerry Preuitt, Jack Hanson, Chuck Nelson, Doug Lowell, Dick Secanti, Joe Schmitz, John Boucher, Doug Clayton, and Jack Harris. John Petta and Joe Farrell are the head lawyers for R. Noonan and J. Bruck law firm. Dave Andresen, Burke Mims, and Jack Flannery have been appointed janitors of Central relieving Barney, Tony, and Pete.

Dave Danaher is selling shoe laces and pencils, etc. Dick Crisera and John Burnett are peddling fruit in Dick's "'31" Pontiac convertible. Ralph Thayer is running for State Representative and his chief opponents are Al Walsh and Bill Vaughan. It is heard of that Jim Mura is still chasing Betty with a ring and shotgun. Mike Walsh has finally become head pharmacist at Brahley's Drugs. Bill Fruhwirth and Jim Jardee have finally become certified Salvation Army officers. Gil Scherzinger runs his own camera shop with Chuck Woodard and Joe Collins, his delivery boys. And finally we hear that Bill Brunkow has become a noted sports writer. (Noted to himself - of course!)
